

Friday 27th September 2024

‘Your new national climate plans, due by Feb 2025, will be among the most important policy documents produced this century.’

Simon Stiell, Executive Secretary, UN Framework Convention on Climate Change – Letter to parties of the Paris Agreement – Sept ‘24.

Decisions made by our governments are crucial to the task of tackling climate change. This week David Lammy, UK Foreign Secretary said of climate change, ‘the threat may not feel as urgent as a terrorist or an imperialist autocrat. But it is more fundamental. It is systemic. Pervasive. And accelerating towards us.’ We need to make our voices heard, we need to embolden and encourage our governments to take the necessary decisive action. If you’d like to ‘imagine’ being ‘Global Minister for future generations’ you could try: The Climate Game – created by The Financial Times and Infosys – Can you reach net zero by 2050? How well did you do?

Young Climate Warriors are challenged this week to let their voices be heard – to chat, share, discuss what they know, feel and think about climate change. One of the greatest challenges humanity has ever faced – yet many people never talk about it. Here’s a simple ‘net zero’ explainer which might be useful in discussions with children.

Walking and talking ... to help combat climate change.

Join the conversation. Talk about our natural world, and how Young Climate Warriors – like yourself – are taking action to protect it and combat climate change.

Tackle climate change whilst walking to school, football, dance, Cubs or Brownies?

Talk, chat, share, discuss what you know, feel and think about climate change with your nan, friend, cousin, uncle, teacher ... ?

Walking, talking challenge!

YOUNG CLIMATE WARRIORS

When you've completed this challenge ... Remember to hit the red button!